TWENTY-SECOND YEAR

GETTYSBURG, THURSDAY, MAY 7th, 1925.

PRICE THREE CENTS

ADELLE IRVIN
WILL UNVEIL
CHURCH FRONT9-Year-Old Gettysburg
Girl With Two Aides to Perform Unveiling Ceremony.

Little Miss Adelle Irvin, 9, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Irvin, West Middle street, will perform the actual unveiling ceremony at St. Francis Xavier church, Sunday afternoon. She will cut the rope which will release American flags over the two bronze tablets on opposite sides of the main entrance. Little Miss Irvin will have as her aides in the unveiling little Miss Marie Rosensteel, 7, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rosensteel, South Washington street, and little Miss Madeline Gallagher, 7, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Gallagher, Hangover street. These girls will lay a wreath at the foot of each tablet, after they have been uncovered.

Gettysburg took on a festive appearance today, with flags streaming from many masts and red, white and blue bunting unfurled from scores of building fronts in preparation for the 28th annual state convention of the Knights of Columbus—the feature event of which will be the unveiling and dedication of the $25,000 memorial front at St. Francis Xavier church.

Many Visitors

Beginning Friday and continuing throughout Saturday and Sunday hundreds of persons, state officers and delegates from almost every subordinate council of the order in the state, are expected to make Gettysburg their destination. Hotel accommodations are sold out, boarding and lodging houses are preparing to entertain part of the overflow, while many private homes are being opened up to the visitors.

Augmenting the convention crowd on Sunday will be thousands of visitors, who will come to Gettysburg for the day, to be present at the dedicatory exercises at St. Francis Xavier church. From Philadelphia alone is coming a caravan of more than 1,000 automobiles.

Governor Albert C. Ritchie, of Maryland, will share speaking honors at the dedication with the Rev. Dr. Peter Guilday, professor of church history, Catholic University, Washington, D. C., while notables in church and state are expected to attend.

Starts At 3 O'clock

The dedicatory exercises will begin promptly at 3 o'clock, Sunday afternoon, and will be held in front of the church, the auditorium of the edifice being too small to hold the expected throng. Sounding boards will be placed behind the speakers' stand so that no matter how far away from the center of activities the spectators may be they can hear as though they were close.

The massive copper cap, topping the new cupola, has been set in place. The cupola and cap are topped off with a cross. The new cupola, which was built to correspond with the architecture of the memorial front, rises 35 feet above the roof of the church.

Events on Sunday begin on Sunday morning at 10 o'clock with a solemn pontifical mass at St. Francis Xavier church, the Rt. Rev. Philip R. McDevitt, Bishop of the Harrisburg diocese, officiating.

In the evening at 8 o'clock, a banquet will be held at the Eagle Hotel for 250 persons, among them many prominent in the affairs of church and state.

Music Program At Fairfield Saturday

Gettysburg has taken the lead in the movement to observe National Music Week, and has stimulated other parts of the county by her enthusiasm and example.

Fairfield is especially happy in that Music Week will be celebrated by the rendition of a musical comedy, entitled "Receiving the Parson," by the choir of the Lutheran church, Saturday evening, May 9.

Much work has been put into the preparation of this entertainment and it is expected that the community will show its interest in both the church organization and Music Week by attending.

ARTIST LAUDS
BATTLEFIELDS

Miss Ruth Kemper Astonished at Marvelous Beauty and Extensiveness of Battleground.

"I have never been so impressed or have I witnessed such beautiful scenery in all my life," said Miss Ruth Kemper, America's youngest violinist, who will appear in concert this evening at Brua Chapel at 8:15 o'clock, speaking of her tour of the Gettysburg battlefields this morning.

"I have often heard of the marvelous battlefields of Gettysburg. I have read about them in various publications, and I have listened to first hand information from a number of people who visited here, but I never expected such a spectacle," Miss Kemper said when interviewed by a representative of the Gettysburg Times.

Is Astonished

"The long, wide, winding avenues dotted with tombstones, markers, granite pillars and statues of marble simply astonished me. I never realized that the Battlefields of Gettysburg were like this. I always imagined a barren, unkempt, dense forest, with patches of open spaces, an occasional tablet or marker designating that this is the Gettysburg Battlefields and when I was escorted over the fields, listening to the instructive accounts of the war, as it waged here in 1863, from an experienced guide, I concluded that Americans must visit Gettysburg before they may justly acclaim themselves full-fledged Americans," continued Miss Kemper.

"It was the most entertaining and educational three hours I have spent for some time," the young violinist added. "I am also elated with the wonderful reception accorded me by Gettysburg residents," the artist added.

Miss Kemper will appear in concert this evening at Brua Chapel featuring Artist Night of Gettysburg's observance of Music Week and a large audience is expected to greet her when she makes her Gettysburg debut.

Her program has been especially prepared for tonight's concert. She will be accompanied on the piano by Miss Lucille Henry, supervisor of music in the local schools.

TWO OPERETTAS
TO BE PRESENTED

"A Pageant of Flowers" and "The Golden Whistle," two short operettas, will be presented in Lincoln Way theatre Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, according to an announcement made this morning by Miss Lucille Henry, supervisor of music in the public schools here.

The first is to be given by the first six grades of the Meade School under the direction of the Misses Raffensperger, Culp, Waybright and Major, teachers at the Meade school. The latter is given by the six grades of the High street school under the direction of the Misses Sachs, Miller, Howard and Miller, Mrs. Clare and Mrs. Gibson. The operettas are given with the cooperation of the Parent-Teachers' association and no admission will be charged.

Hartman's Bold Attempt to Escape Local Jail Is Frustrated; Accomplice
Is Arrested, Confesses

Philip A. Hartman, Condemned To Die In Electric Chair For Self-Confessed Killing Of Trooper Haley, Balked In His Attempt To Saw His Way Out Of Jail; Frutchey Arrests Roy
Diamond, Accomplice.

An attempt to escape from the Adams county jail by Philip A. Hartman, condemned to die in the electric chair for the self-confessed killing of Trooper Francis L. Haley last October, has been frustrated and the convicted man's chief accomplice has been arrested and confessed his part in the plot. Hartman devised to saw his way out of the local jail.

Trooper Russel W. Frutchey, of the local substation of state police, arrested Roy Diamond, 22 years old, Annaville, this morning and this afternoon Diamond confessed that he sent twelve specially-made steel saws to Hartman in the local jail. The saws never reached Hartman, however, and the web of evidence, meager and flimsy, upon which the local trooper worked, was finally tightened about Diamond and the young man admitted that he sought to assist Hartman to escape.

Hartman's plan to escape paying the death penalty contained a cleverly, well devised plot, in which several local people were innocently involved, together with a prisoner in the local jail who refused to render any assistance to the condemned man. Hartman planned to saw his way out of the jail through the window of a fellow-prisoner's cell, and not his own, because of the number of bars over the opening into Hartman's cell.

Convicted by Jury

Convicted by a jury in the local courts last January of the killing of Trooper Francis L. Haley, Hartman was automatically condemned to pay the penalty for his deed, with his life, in the electric chair. The young prisoner was taken to the county jail, and there was reconciled to the fate that awaited him, saying: "I am ready, I have made my peace with God."

Hartman was allowed the privilege of the corridors and he mingled with other prisoners in the jail. It was during his companionship with other prisoners that Hartman conceived of his well-laid plans to saw his way to freedom, thus escaping the electric chair for the slaying of the state trooper.

Trooper Haley is the eleventh Pennsylvania State Policeman to be killed while on duty in the uniform of the state and if Hartman pays the penalty imposed by the twelve jurors, he will be the eleventh man to die for killing a trooper.

Sought Moorelock's Aid

Hartman's first move in his plot to escape from the local jail, came with his approach of Millard Moorelock, a fellow prisoner, charged with forging a check.

The condemned man, according to local authorities, approached Moorelock and asked him, if he would help to break jail. Moorelock is said to have refused, declaring that he did not want to be implicated in a jail-breaking plot.

Hartman is then said to have asked Moorelock, according to the police who declared they secured the latter's story of his part in the scheme, to have "his (Moorelock's) girl" bring "some stuff" into the jail. Moorelock is said by the police to have refused Hartman's request.

Cude Letter

Hartman is said to have informed Moorelock, said the police, that he, Hartman, expected a letter from a friend in Annaville, which would contain one of two statements, "I've lost my job," or "My child is sick." If the letter contained the former, the interpretation would be that "some saws will arrive." If it contained the latter statement, the interpretation would be: "My Annaville friend will come to Gettysburg."

Hartman, police assert, planned to escape from Moorelock's cell because of the number of bars over the latter's window. In Hartman's cell, there are eight bars, while over Moorelock's window there are only two and Hartman, said the police, would have to saw only one bar in order to squirm through the opening.

When Moorelock refused to assist Hartman, said the police, the condemned man sought Steven Bradley, colored, recently acquitted of a charge of violating the liquor laws. Hartman requested Bradley to have the latter's wife mail a letter for him, Hartman, said the police. Bradley is said to have refused Hartman's request.

Several days later, Hartman is said to have informed Moorelock that he received the letter from his Annaville friend in which was stated: "I've lost my job," meaning, according to the police's interpretation, that some saws were being mailed here for Hartman.

COMMUNICATIONS

The following communication from Rev. Fr. Walter Elliott, of the Church of St. Paul the Apostle, New York city, to Samuel Murray, of Philadelphia, well known in Gettysburg, following a visit to Gettysburg and a tour of the battlefield, tells of the impression the statue of Father Corby made upon the New York pastor. The communication transmitted to the editor of The Times follows:

Church of St. Paul the Apostle, Paulist Fathers, 415 West Fifty-ninth St., New York, Oct. 30, 1910. My dear Mr. Murray.—Your statue of Father Corby made such an impression on me yesterday, that I must overflow with his praise, and write to you my sincerest congratulations and thanks. I am sure that God guided you in that work, which will lift multitudes of souls towards our Redeemer for many years yet to come. No true artist is adequately compensated in money, but your payment will be adequate in spiritual compensation and will bring to you and to all who are dear to you eternal blessings. I am sure that your motives must have been religious, for the statue breathes out an inspiration of artistic sincerity. It is the true Priest that we see, not a theatrical image of one. His face beams with God's generous pardon for sinners and the divine fatherly love watching over men in peril of their lives. I pray that Providence may give you many more opportunities to do religious work for which He has so well endowed you. Faithfully yours in our Lord, WALTER ELLIOTT.

U. S. Air Chief Is Reported Missing

(By Associated Press.)

Nashville, Tenn., May 7.—Major General M. M. Patrick, chief of the Army air service, "lost" since 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, flew safely into Washington at 7:55 o'clock this morning. It had been the general's purpose to come from Memphis to this city without a stop, but darkness overtook his airplane at Eva, a small village without telegraph facilities, where the night was spent.

Lieutenant Meloy said that he had wired officials in Washington that General Patrick had not reached Nashville and was also wiring other points in an effort to gain information of his whereabouts.

STATE TO GET MOTOR FINES

Governor Pinchot vetoed the bill of Representative Little, Allegheny, which would have turned over to municipalities all fines for violations of the motor code which are now paid to the state. At present all such fines revert to the state excepting those for violation of the speed limit and maximum weight requirements, which municipalities retain.

In his veto message the governor explains that such fines amounted to $230,000 last year, and that as the Legislature imposed additional burdens on the motor fund by ordering sinking fund charges and maintenance of 1150 additional miles of highway be paid from that fund, reduction of the fund by remission of fines is not warranted.

HARTMAN'S BOLD

Steve Bradley, P. O. 135, Gettysburg, Pa., was received at the local post office. A young colored boy, who is said to be an errand boy for Mrs. Bradley, brought the package to the local woman, who resides in Race Horse alley.

Saws Given to Sheriff. Mrs. Bradley, according to the police, upon receipt of the package opened it and threw the wrapping paper away, upon which were written the address and, police believe, a return address, which were sought by the police in their investigation.

Mrs. Bradley is said to have informed her husband, when she visited him in jail, of her receipt of the saws and to have asked him what she should do with them. Bradley is said to have informed his wife to give the saws to the sheriff, which Mrs. Bradley did.

Later Sheriff Shealer turned the case over to the state police for investigation.

Roy Diamond, suspected accomplice of Hartman in a hold-up of a gasoline station in New York, was believed by police to be Hartman's "Anville friend." An investigation failed to bring forth sufficient evidence to incriminate Diamond, however. Later, some letters, received by Hartman and signed "Roy Diamond," were compared with a letter Hartman received, containing the code writing, relating to the shipment of the saws. The latter letter however was signed "Snob." The writing of the two letters was similar and Trooper Frutcher was assigned to conduct a thorough investigation.

Diamond Confesses. Trooper Frutcher went to Anville on Wednesday, returning late last night. This morning he returned to the Lebanon county town, and arrested Diamond, who confessed that he sent the saws to Hartman and that he was with Hartman when the gasoline station in New York state was held-up.

Diamond was taken to Harrisburg and late this afternoon was removed to Gettysburg and lodged in the county jail. Local authorities could not be reached to ascertain what charge would be lodged against him. According to local attorneys, Hartman was automatically condemned to die when the jury returned a first degree verdict. The attorneys declared that conviction of first degree murder automatically carries with it the death penalty.

Hartman now awaits the result of his attorney's appeal for a new trial which will be argued May 18, before Judge McPherson.

HINDENBURG TO REALIZE DREAM

Former Kaiser's Ambition to Ride Into Berlin at Head of "Victorious" Army to be Hindenburg's Realization.

(By Associated Press.) Berlin, May 7.—A thrill that was denied William II, of Germany, is being prepared, though against his will, it is said, for Field Marshal von Hindenburg, president-elect of the republic.

Cheered by thousands, he is to enter Berlin triumphantly next Monday through the famous Heerstrasse (army street), which in a straight line leads through the suburbs of Charlottenburg and the Tiergarten direct to the Brandenburg gate. Under den Linden and the former imperial castle.

In constructing the Heerstrasse, about 1906, the former kaiser had in mind the fact that large masses of troops were quartered at Doberitz, near Spandau, ten miles from Berlin, which is in a direct line with the Brandenburg gate. The large drill grounds at Doberitz were the scene of many military maneuvers.

It was said to be William's hope, in the event of victorious war, that the troops might be assembled at Doberitz, and, with himself at the head, march by way of the Heerstrasse, through the Tiergarten and the Brandenburg gate to the castle, where they would pass in review before him. Germany's defeat and William's banishment shattered this hope.

By a curious coincidence, the same route was chosen by the leaders of the Kapp Putsch of 1920, which also ended ingloriously.

Field Marshal von Hindenburg, approaching peacefully and swept into power by the people's vote, now is to realize the old dream of a triumphal entry.

LAW APPLIES TO WHOLE MILK ONLY

Must buttermilk, cream and mixed drinks made largely from milk be served in hotels, restaurants, lunch rooms, fountains, and drinking cars in bottled form under the provisions of the new milk container law?

Hundreds of inquiries of this nature are being received by James Foust, director, bureau of foods and chemistry, Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, since the law regulating the serving of milk for drinking purposes was passed by the recent Legislature. Mr. Foust explains that the law does not prohibit the sale and serving of cream, skimmed milk or buttermilk from bulk if the same is pure and wholesome nor does it prohibit the sale by glass of mixed drinks at soda fountains.

The law applies only to whole milk served for drinking purposes. Such milk must be served in the bottle in which it is supplied. The law will become effective May 25, 1925 and at that time the Department of Agriculture will start rigid enforcement.

PROTEST JAP'S SHIP LANDING

Governor General Leonard Wood Will Not Take Vacation Before January 1926.

(By Associated Press.) Manila, May 7.—Governor General Wood denied reports he expected to depart soon for a vacation in the United States. The statement was made after his return from an inspection tour of the northern provinces.

The governor added it would be impossible for him to leave the Philippines before January 1, 1926, and at present he has no plans for a vacation, although he has been in the islands four years.

Governor General Wood is now preparing his message to the legislature, which convenes July 15, to remain in session until November.

"I have no intention of leaving on a vacation until after the legislature closes," he said. "At that time it is possible the administration may desire my presence in Washington after congress convenes."

During his trip to the northern provinces, General Wood visited the Batanes islands, where he found small Japanese vessels were landing frequently without authority.

While the Japanese have committed no recent depredations, it is possible that a formal protest will be lodged against vessels landing at the Batanes islands without first having obtained clearance papers at Aparri.

The governor general expects to leave for Mindanao soon to investigate unrest among the Moros, especially the disturbances reported in Lanao province.

10,000 STATE FARM BULLETINS

In response to requests, more than 10,000 bulletins and circulars were sent to farmers and others interested in agriculture by the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture during the first three months in 1925.

Among the most popular bulletins are the following: No. 120, Apple Tree Tent Caterpillar; No. 261, Sour Soils and Liming; No. 369, The Apple Industry of Pennsylvania; No. 371, The Cigar Tobacco Industry of Pennsylvania; No. 390, Japanese Beetle in Pennsylvania; No. 392, The Mushroom Industry of Pennsylvania; No. 393, Problems in Marketing Pennsylvania Wheat; and No. 396, The Pennsylvania Vegetable Forcing Industry. The department sends its bulletins and circulars free to all farmers in the state who make requests. A list of all available bulletins has also been prepared and is sent to persons interested in the department's publications in order to aid them in making selections.

Tokio, May 7.—According to advices received here from Seoul, Korea, a devastating forest fire near Kankayo is sweeping through numerous villages and leaving thousands of persons homeless.

TROTZKY BACK IN RUSS CAPITAL

Deposed War Minister Promises To Be "Regular" And Returns to Moscow; May Be Given New Post.

Moscow, May 7.—After four months' isolation in the Caucasus, Leon Trotsky, former War Minister, will return to Moscow today, ready to accept any position the government may offer him. Trotsky is traveling from Sukhum, in Trans-Caucasia, in his private railway coach.

The hierarchy of the Communist party, consisting of Alexis Rykoff, president of the council of Commissars; Stalin, Kamenoff, Kalinin and Zinovieff, has granted the former leader of the Red army absolution from his political heresy. Henceforth Trotsky promises to be "regular," and to observe all the tenets of strict bolshevism.

May Succeed Krassin. It is likely that he will be offered the post of Commissar of Foreign Trade, which was held by Leonin Krassin until the latter's appointment to the Ambassadorship at Paris.

Though this position, his friends say, is scarcely commensurate with Trotsky's great ability, it will afford the deposed war chief an opportunity to work his way back into the good graces of those who ousted him and may lead to a more responsible portfolio in the Soviet Cabinet.

Hopes To Lead Red Army. In his letter to the central executive committee of the Communist party last January, when he was dismissed from the War Ministry, Trotsky indicated his willingness to accept any work to which the Communist party might assign him.

Trotsky still cherishes the hope of ultimately retrieving his position at the head of the Red Army, but impartial observers believe there is no likelihood of this.

For the moment, therefore, it is thought certain that Trotsky will be appointed to the Department of Foreign Trade.

WORK DENIES HE WILL QUIT

Washington, May 7.—Secretary Work Wednesday formally denied reports that he will retire from the cabinet on July 1.

"I am too busy to resign or even think of it," said he.

Secretary Work said the interior department was never more active in its entire history. He called attention that under recent legislation a complete reappraisal of irrigation projects is under way and that a new policy is being developed for the national park service.

A campaign for improvement of conditions among the Indian wards of the government also is being prosecuted. A complete reorganization of the medical, hospital, field nursing and public health work on the reservations has been accomplished. The secretary also said the federal oil conservation board is engaged in trying to formulate a policy for the conservation of the oil resources of the nation and is making progress.

The annual reduction of $555,000 in the operating expenses of the general land office, through a reorganization of the bureau, was announced yesterday by Secretary Work.

PENNSY BANKER UNDER ARREST

Cleveland, May 7.—Delus M. Donahue, Titusville, Pennsylvania, broker, was under arrest Wednesday on a charge of insanity after attacking two Cleveland detectives.

The broker, who for two months has been living at a hotel here with his wife, was reported missing Tuesday, by Mrs. Donahue. Detectives went to the Donahue suite Wednesday to gain information regarding the case.

While they were talking to Mrs. Donahue, her husband entered the room and attacked Detective McWilliams from behind, attempting to choke him.

After subduing the man, McWilliams took him to the detective bureau, where Detective Frank Butcher started to question him. Without warning Donahue turned on Butcher and began pounding him with his fists.

Donahue, who is 55, retired from active business a year ago.

SEND PICTURES IN 20 MINUTES

(By Associated Press.) New York, May 7.—Photographs transmitted through the air most of the way traversed 5,000 miles over land and sea, today completing a historic journey from Honolulu to New York in 20 minutes.

Seven pictures of persons and events concerned in the sham-warfare that the United States Army and Navy have been carrying on near Hawaii were transmitted in the series of experiments. 20 minutes after the negative of each picture had been placed in the transmitting apparatus at Honolulu the completed picture was in New York. The experiment was conducted by the Radio Corporation of America with the cooperation of the U. S. Army.

Results count. The causes of most things are unknown.

"On the same evidence you would acquit him and condemn me. Is that fair?"

"I have known him for years—his standards, his ways of thinking. All his life he has schooled himself to run a straight course."

"Whereas I—" He waited, the sardonic frosty smile on his lean strong face.

Moya knew that the flutter of her pulses was telling tales in the pink of her cheeks. "I don't know you."

"I'm only a workman, and an American at that—so it follows that I must be a criminal," he answered with a touch of bitterness.

"No—no! But you're different. There's something untamed about you. I don't quite know how to put it—as if you had been brought up without restraints, as if you didn't care much for law."

"Why should I? Law is a weapon to bolster up the rich and keep down the poor," he flung back with an acid smile. "But there's law and law. Even in our class we have our standards, such as they are."

"Now it's you that isn't fair," she told him quietly. "You know I meant nothing like that. The point is that I don't know what your standards are. Law doesn't mean so much to people here. Your blood runs freer, less even than ours. You don't let the conventions hamper you."

"The convention of honesty, for instance. Thanks, Miss Dwight."

"I didn't want to believe it, but—"

The penitence in her vivid face pleaded for her. He could not refuse the outstretched hand of this slender lance-straight girl whose sweet vitality was at once so delicate and so gallant. Reluctantly his palm met hers.

"You're quite sure now that I didn't do it?"

"Quite sure."

"Even though I'm wild and lawless?"

"Aren't you?" she flashed back with a smile that took from the words any sting they might otherwise have had.

Moya stared into his eyes, from which now many little creases radiated. "You're a good one, neighbor. But since you will have it, I am. I reckon my standards even in honesty wouldn't square with yours. I live in a rough mining camp where questions have two sides. It's up to me to play the game the way the other fellow plays it. But we'll not go into that now."

Strong, clear-eyed and masterful, she knew him a man among ten thousand.

Strong, Clear-Eyed and Masterful, She Knew Him a Man Among Ten Thousand.

He might be capable of great sin, but what he did would be done with his eyes wide open and not from innate weakness. Her heart sang jubilantly. How could she ever have dreamed this crime of him? Her trust was now a thing above any evidence.

"And you'll sit down with me now if I ask you, neighbor," he laughed.

She did not wait to be asked, but sat down, tailor fashion, and looked expectantly up with a humorous little twist of the eyebrows. Flakes of dappled sunlight played on her through the moving leaves and accentuated the youthful bloom of her.

With a sigh of content he stretched himself on the sun-warmed lawn. "It's sometimes a mighty good world, neighbor," he said.

"I'm thinking that myself," she admitted, laughter welling softly out of her.

The sun lit the tips of the pines, so that they looked like burnished lances in battle array, poured its beams over the scarred hillside, and bathed the little valley in effulgent glory.

"You can always find it somewhere," he said with deep content, leaning on an elbow indolently.

She asked for no antecedent to his pronoun. What he meant was not ambiguous to her.

"If one knows where to look for it," she added softly.

"That's the trouble. We get so busy with our little everyday troubles that we forget to look. But the joy of life is always there if we'll forget our grouch and see it."

"Yes—if having eyes we see."

"I'm comforted a heap to know that you believe in me—even if I'm not Captain Kilmeny," he assured her with his slow rippling laugh.

Had he been looking at her he would have seen the telltale color tide her cheeks. "If that is a comfort you are welcome to it. I might have known the idea of connecting you with such a thing was folly."

He glanced whimsically at her. "Don't be too sure of me, neighbor. I'm likely to disappoint you. You'd have to make a heap of allowances for me if I were your friend."

"Isn't that what friendship is for—to make allowances?"

"You've found that out already, have you?"

The long-lashed lids fell to her cheeks in self-defense. Not for worlds would she have had him guess the swift message ready to leap out toward him. He seemed to be drawing her soul to his unconsciously. Tingles in every nerve, a thrill with an emotion new and inexplicable, she drew a long slow breath and turned her head away. A hot shame ran like quicksilver through her veins. She whipped herself with her own scorn. Was she the kind of girl that gave her love to a man who did not want it?

His next words brought to her the shock she needed, the effect of a plunge into icy water on a warm day.

"What about your friends—what about Miss Seldon—did she believe me guilty too?" He could not quite keep the self-consciousness out of his voice.

"Hush! don't better ask her that?" she suggested.

Kilmeny's alert eyes had swept again and again the trail leading up the gulch. He did not intend to be caught napping by the officers. Now he rose and offered her a hand up.

"Your friends are coming."

Swiftly Moya came to earth from her emotions. In another moment she was standing beside the fugitive, her gaze on the advancing group. Captain Kilmeny was in the lead and was the first to recognize her companion.

Moya took a step toward her friends, so that for the first time Jack Kilmeny stood plainly revealed. India's pretty piquant face set to a red-lipped soundless whistle. Joyce stared in frank amusement. Verinder, ruffled in caste and respectability as only a social climber dubious of his position can be, ejaculated a "God bless my soul!" and collapsed beyond further articulation. Captain Kilmeny nodded to the westerner without embarrassment.

"Morning, Mr. Crumbs."

"Good-morning. But you have the name wrong, sir."

"Beg pardon." The captain's eyebrows lifted in inquiry.

"Kilmeny," the American corrected. Nonchalantly the captain came to time. "Same name as ours. Wonder if by any chance we're of the same family. Happen to be any relation of Archibald Kilmeny, who died in Colorado fifteen years ago?"

Jack looked at him quietly. "A son."

"Makes us cousins. He was my father's brother."

The westerner nodded coolly, not in the least impressed. "Yes."

It would have been easy to read hostility in his bearing, but India sailed past her brother with hand extended. "Glad to meet you, Cousin Jack. Remember me? Last time you saw me I was a squalling five-year-old."

The American warmed a trifle. "I remember you, all right. Never saw a kid before so fond of curraut jam."

"Still am. You've improved in your personal appearance. Last time I saw your eye it had been beautifully blacked, kindness of Ned."

"Fortune of war. My lip was swollen for a week," her brother laughed as he extended his hand.

"Ned got carried for fightin' with a guest. Served him jolly well right," Miss Kilmeny said.

Joyce looked forward into the picture gracefully. Her radiant beauty took the westerner's breath.

"You'll stay with us for luncheon," she said with soft animation. "For, of course, this is an occasion. Long-lost cousins do not meet every day."

Verinder, making speechless sounds of protest at this indiscretion, grew very red in the face. Would he have to sit down to eat with a criminal at large?

Jack hesitated scarcely a second. He could not take his gaze from this superb young creature, whose every motion charmed, whose deep eyes glowed with such a divine warmth of mellow gold.

"Thanks awfully, but I really can't stay."

He bowed to one and another, turned upon Joyce that look of dumb worship she had seen on the faces of many men, and swung off into the pines, as elastic-heeled, confident, and competent a youth as any of them had seen in many a day.

LEAGUE TEAMS PLAY SATURDAY

McSherrystown to Battle Bullets
at Playground Lot; Locals Still Without Some Regulars.

The second game of the 28-game schedule of the Adams County Baseball League for Gettysburg will be played on the local Playground diamond with McSherrystown, victors in the opening contest against the Bullets, as the local's opponents. The game will be called at 2:30 o'clock Saturday.

Despite a make-shift line-up, with seven regulars absent, Manager Oyler's proteges made a creditable showing against the league champions test, and this week with a stronger of last year, in last Saturday's conaggregation expect to turn back the McSherrystown outfit to tie the count at one all.

"Junie" Bream, outfielder for the Bullets, was assigned to mound duty last Saturday, and twirled excellent ball, which might have resulted in a victory for the local topper, had not several miscues at opportune times resulted favorably for the St. Mary's tribe.

Just who will draw the pitching lot for this week's tilt is not known. Manager Oyler, still working with several possible moundsmen possibilities, will not announce his hurler until the game starts.

Other games in the league scheduled for Saturday are Littlestown at Biglerville, Arendtsville at Midway and Bendersville-Aspers at New Oxford.

PREP LOSES TO HIGH NINE 9-2

Utz Again Stops Academy Aggregation; Allows Four Hits; To Play Massanutten Saturday.

In a return game at the Playground Wednesday afternoon, the Gettysburg High School bats swatted their way to another victory over the Gettysburg Academy nine, the score being 9 to 2. In the first game of the season between these two teams, the high school won by the score 9 to 0. Utz pitched both games for high school, and in Wednesday's contest allowed 4 hits.

Bartlett was on the mound for Academy, but was not effective, allowing seven passes and 11 hits. Two base hits were smacked off by D. Bream, Heiges, Gardner, Myers and W. Bream, all high school players.

On Saturday, the high school nine, victorious in every one of the eight games played this season, goes to Woodstock, Virginia, to play a return contest with the Massanutten Military Academy, defeated here several weeks ago by the score 22 to 0.

SUNDAY SCHOOL STATISTICS

Wonder how many of you know that about one out of every three persons in Adams county is a member of the Sunday school? Didn't know there was an army of Sunday school folks right here in this good old county, did you?

The total number of Sunday school folks in the county, as given by the Pennsylvania State Sabbath School Association, is 13,680 and the population of our county at the last census was 34,000.

This is a splendid record and yet it does look as if that larger balance, a large proportion of whom, of course, are church members, should be in the Sunday schools for in the state of Pennsylvania, with its population of 8,700,177, there are 2,174,471 Sunday school members which is a higher average than any other state in the union.

To man and train and lead this great Sunday school army in Adams county there is a force of 1179 teachers and officers.

The county has 81 Sunday schools through which the churches of the county last year gained accessions of 463 new members on their active rolls.

The Adams county Sunday schools are staunch supporters of the Pennsylvania Sabbath School Association which is doing good work throughout this commonwealth in directing the Sunday school movement and helping to conserve the work of the Sunday school of the church and the community, for last year the county contributed $550 to the work of the state association.

The state Sunday school association is the most efficient one in the world and is now being reorganized, directed by a board of trustees, business men who not only pay their own expenses, but are among its heaviest contributors.

EDWIN MARKHAM

Fired by the joy of centuries, he gleams,
The living temple of all human dreams.

His mind an anvil whereon nobler thought
In gems of lasting loveliness is wrought.

Men call him old who see his silver hair,
But age has never touched him with despair.

Time, the harsh master, has been harsh with him,
Tried him with blows but failed to make him grim.

Wanamaker and H. J. Heinz are three outstanding figures in the history of the Pennsylvania Sunday schools, all three having been presidents of the association at various times. However, they did not help to organize the association, which occurred in 1862 in the Civil War days. These men typified three great elements in our modern life. Beaver represented the soldier, politician and later was governor of the state. Wanamaker was the world's leading type of merchant; Heinz, a captain of industry of world-wide repute.

Even today this great Sabbath school association's head, Percy L. Craig, an financier and business man of wide experience, is no less the great and wise leader of his predecessors.

50,000 AT A TIME

BETWEEN 9 and 10 in the morning, each weekday, 450,000 local calls are handled in the Bell central offices of Pennsylvania.

This is one-tenth of the daily grist of 4,500,000 calls.

During every minute of this "peak hour" 50,000 people are talking—at the same time, 900,000 have talked before the hour is up.

The organizing for this traffic is no first-thing-in-the-morning job. In every central office the type and design of equipment, its volume, and the size of the operating force is based on advance calculations of the traffic expectancy, down to a fraction of a call per telephone per day.

Some unexpected happening in the community, affecting a large portion of the populace, may upset these calculations. But with reserves to call on, the Chief Operators, whose forces now number 10,600, have met many a traffic overload of 30 per cent. without a break.

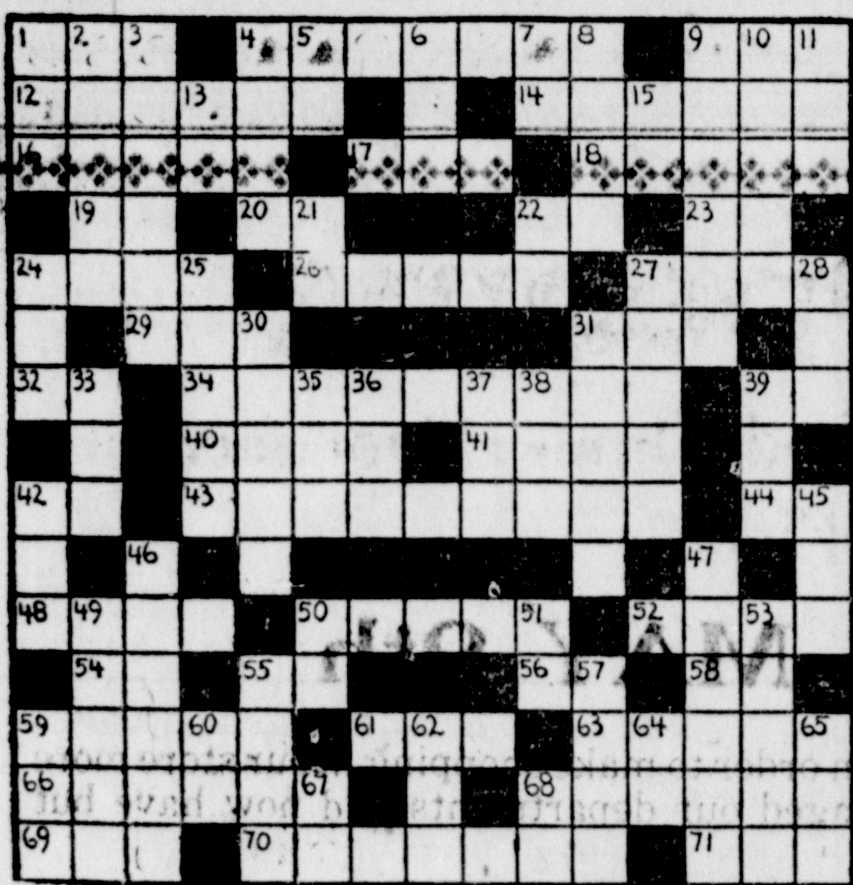

In the machine-switching offices there are proportionate margins in equipment.

And to speed and accuracy of service, is added the important element of reliability.

GOITRE REMOVED

Titusville Minister's Wife Writes Letter to Local Drug Store Describing Experience.

People's Drug Store has received a letter from Mrs. F. N. Baker, 618 W. Oak St., Titusville, Pa., telling her experience in removing a terrible goitre with Sorbol-Quadruple, a colorless liniment pleasant to use. Her eyes, heart and nerves were in a bad condition. Old Mr. Carter Helped By Simple Mixture

"After taking Adlerika I feel better than for years. At my age (60) it is ideal—so different from other medicines." (signed) W. W. Carter. Adlerika is a simple mixture of buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., which removes GAS in ten minutes and often brings surprising relief to the stomach. Stops that full, bloated feeling. Brings out old waste-matter you never thought was in your system. Excellent for chronic constipation. The News Stand Drug Store.—adv.

New Easy Way To End NASAL CATARRH

Quick and sure; safe and no trouble—the new way to get rid of loathsome Catarrh in nose and throat.

It may be acute or it may be chronic—of years standing—you may have tried salves and ointments and other treatments.

You're probably disgusted and think you haven't a chance in the world of overcoming it.

Try once more—try this. Get a six ounce bottle of Kojeone for 60 cents at People's Drug Store or any progressive druggist. Spray the nostrils with it twice a day for three or four days or until every Catarrh germ is destroyed and the nose is clean and clear.

Try once more and get rid of this obnoxious disease. Kojeone will do it. If by any mishap it fails your money will be gladly returned.

Kojeone is the world's most powerful, non-poisonous antiseptic—seventy-five times as strong as highly flavored antiseptics—yet you can drink it with no ill effects.

If it won't conquer nasal catarrh and clean out every trace of mucous and soreness nothing will.—adv.

RHEUMATISM

Torturing Pains and Swollen Joints Vanish When Rheuma Is Used or Money Refunded.

If you want relief in two days, swift, gratifying relief, take one teaspoonful of Rheuma every night and morning.

If you want to dissolve the uric acid poison in your body and drive it out through the natural channels so that you will be free from rheumatism, get a bottle of Rheuma from your druggist at once.

Rheumatism is a powerful disease strongly entrenched in joints and muscles. In order to conquer it a powerful enemy must be sent against it. Rheuma is the enemy of rheumatism—an enemy that must conquer it in every instance or your money will be refunded.

Rheuma contains no narcotics—is harmless and thoroughly reliable because it is the one remedy that has relieved the agonizing pains of rheumatic sufferers who thought nothing would give relief. It should do as much for you. People's Drug Store will supply you on the no-cure-no-pay plan.—adv.

Don't Get Up Nights

John Lumpkins, Dayton, Ohio, says: "Come to 7 Carrie St., and I will show you 25 pieces of gravel that passed after taking Lithiated Buchu (Keller Formula). Had to get up 15 times at night for two years. Alright Now." Lithiated Buchu cleanses the bladder like Epsom Salts do the bowels, thereby relieving irritation, driving out foreign matter and neutralizing excessive acids. These are the causes of unnatural action of the bladder at night. Lithiated Buchu (Keller Formula) is not a cheap medicine. The tablets cost 2 cents each. Sold at leading drug stores or Keller Laboratory, Mechanicsburg, Ohio. Locally at People's Drug Store.—adv.

SKINNY MEN

Gain 5 Pounds in 30 Days or Get Your Money Back.

Doctors and good pharmacists know that Cod Liver Oil is full of vitamins that make flesh, create appetite, build up the power to resist disease and puts good solid flesh on skinny men and women.

But it's horrible tasting stuff and every day fewer people are taking it, for doctors are prescribing and people are fast learning that they can get better results with McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets, which People's Drug Store and druggists all over the country are having a tremendous demand for.

One woman gained 10 pounds in 22 days and if any skinny man or woman can't put on 5 pounds in 30 days, your druggists will gladly refund the purchase price.

Be sure and get McCoy's, the original and genuine Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets—60 tablets—60 cents. Adv.

U. S. ATTITUDE HELPFUL

(By Associated Press.)

Washington, May 7.—While Ambassador Houghton spoke on his own responsibility in his address in London Monday night, President Coolidge is very hopeful that the Ambassador's interpretation of the American attitude toward Europe will be helpful to European statesmen and people.

A man who is always forgetting his best intentions may be said to be a thoroughfare of good intentions.

A lie has no legs and cannot stand; but it has wings and can fly far and wide. —Waburton.

NEARLY INSANE AT TIMES

Mrs. Saunders Tells how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Relieved Troubles of Change of Life

Knoxville, Tenn.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound while going through the Change of Life. I was very nervous, could not sleep and had melancholy spells. In fact, I was nearly insane at times and my memory was almost a blank. I was so weak I could not do my household half of the time and suffered dreadfully with my back. My doctor said I would have to worry it out and I went through this for three years before I began taking the Vegetable Compound which I saw advertised. I think it was eight bottles that I took. It has been two years since I took any and I haven't had a doctor since for that trouble. I do all my washing and ironing and I have gained from 116 to 138 pounds. I feel so well I think I do not need any medicine now, but I advise all women who suffer physically and mentally as I did to give the Vegetable Compound a fair trial. I hope it will do as much for them as it did for me."—Mrs. T. A. SAUNDERS, 711 E. Depot Street, Knoxville, Tenn.

Your Porch

Awnings add a touch to a porch that cannot be gotten in any other way. They keep it cool and comfortable and at the same time add beauty and dignity. You can get them in colors to go with the painting of the balance of the house. The quality of the Awnings that we sell, and we have sold the same ones for years, is of the very best as to cloth, frame and all the fixtures. A call on the 'phone will have us at your door to measure and give you an estimate of cost. We are also able to take care of you for your store, office or house windows.
